

Section 1 - Introduction

INTRODUCTION

Population estimates are available for the City of Kanab to the year 2004 at 3,528 residents. Since then there has been explosive growth in Southern Utah in general and in Kanab there have been several developments completed and it is estimated by the city that there are currently 3,964 residents or a growth rate of approximately 6% in the last two years.

The City currently services approximately 1,808 equivalent residential connections of which there are 1,680 residential connections. The City anticipates the growth rate will continue at 6% for the next 10 years and then continue at a 4% growth rate for the following 10 years. At this rate it is anticipated there will be 10,508 persons in the year 2027 adding 2,772 connections to the system over the next 20 years.

The following report identifies projects in the Capital Facilities Plan that will be required to meet the projected growth. Projects are identified for immediate consideration, 5 year, 10 year, and 20 years.
